Wine Broker/Winemaker - Next Generation

An innovative technology company, VINEX (www.vinex.market) requires the services of a self-motivated wine professional with current or past broking experience. You will have excellent technical wine knowledge, industry relationships and bulk wine commercial trading experience, with an interest in how technology can connect and advance the trade of wine parcels.

VINEX is a global wine trading exchange based in London with members from 47 countries trading wines (grapes and associated grape derived products). In addition to connecting the market, VINEX publishes market analysis and insights, and provides a range of industry tools and calculators.

Covering Northern California, you will be joining a young and dynamic team in a role that requires excellent interpersonal skills with wine broking experience to promote and facilitate trading through the exchange. The role can be either full or part-time. Along with autonomy, travel and senior responsibility for business development, there is an opportunity to be well rewarded for making a solid contribution to the company's goals.

The work hours are flexible, but you must be prepared to travel extensively. Your personality type must thrive on direct customer interaction and you must pride yourself on the delivery of service excellence. Excellent remuneration is available, plus a generous performance bonus scheme.

Thank you for considering this role. All inquiries will be treated in strict confidence.
